

Car Watch

Helping you help your car.

Maintaining your car makes it safer for you and your family.

Here at Chevron, we want to help you keep your car in good working order, so that it's safer for you and your family. By giving you some ideas and helpful hints on what to look out for (Light Bulbs) we feel we're sharing some of our knowledge and making sure that you're able to enjoy more trouble-free miles on the road. By taking some preventative action, you can also keep down the cost of running your vehicle.

7. Light Bulbs

While it seems like common sense to ensure that your lights on your car are all working, it's not always easy to tell if one of them isn't working, because you don't often get to see the back of your car, while you're driving it. So, knowing that your rear brake light is out isn't always obvious.

The dangers of them not working, of course, is that other cars behind you don't get the warning that you're slowing down and if they're not quick enough, or following a little closely, you could have someone smashing into the back of you.

We recommend that you take the time to check your rear brake lights regularly or just bring it in to us and we'll check for you.

YOUR FEEDBACK KEEPS US GOING

In striving to provide our clients with the best possible service, we love hearing from you and finding out what you think we can do to improve our service to you.

Don't be shy, let us know what you really think. We can't promise that we'll implement every idea, but we'll certainly do what we can.

If you think we're wonderful and can't improve, tell your friends about us and where they can enjoy the same level of care and service that you've enjoyed. We look forward to helping them too.

In the meantime, have many safe, enjoyable miles of driving.
